Thought of the Week:

"Behind every great team is a strong culture; great leadership, and passionate, committed people."

Culture isn't just one thing. It's everything! Culture drives expectations and beliefs. Expectations and beliefs drive behaviors. Behaviors drive habits. And habits create the future. Sharing positive energy doesn't mean you have to be a rah-rah person or bounce off the walls. It means that, from the heart, you simply broadcast the love, passion, positivity and purpose that you have for your team. It means that you are a fountain of energy instead of an energy drain. It means you infuse your team with positive energy instead of being an energy vampire that sucks the life out of them!! Decide to be the Vitamin C on your team☺
